We are proud to support the Goy and Thespian Alliance Against Defamation Media Awards. Actors and non-Jews are important parts of the fabric of this country, and to hell with those who would rather act as if they didn't exist. Mazel tov and bravo.

We've watched the same show every Sunday night for 27 years.

It's said that the "Golden Age of Television" is history, that quality programming can't survive. Yet what's the longest running dramatic series in prime time TV? Mobil Masterpiece Theatre. It has been a standout achievement in American television, and we're proud to have been its only sponsor. Tonight we're especially proud of Breaking the Code, GLAAD nominee for Outstanding TV Movie. We offer our congratulations to cast and crew and our thanks to PBS, to WGBH in Boston, to GLAAD and to our loyal audience. It's an honor, as always, to have played a supporting role. For more about Mobil, catch our newest show at www.mobil.com/arts.

For most of us, the media have been the primary sources shaping our perceptions of the world. Understanding the importance of images, Vito Russo and others founded to help change the way our community is represented in all forms of media.

GLAAD

GLAAD has become a major source of information for decision makers in both the entertainment industry and the news media. In 1992, Entertainment Weekly named GLAAD as one of Hollywood's most powerful entities, and in 1995, Out magazine declared that GLAAD could be "one of our most effective national lesbian and gay groups."
